The local area

Regeneration within the area.

Harworth Group Plc is currently developing a large site in the area, Simpson park. A 107 acre former harworth colliery site, has the potential to accommodate over 1,700 new homes in north nottinghamshire.

The site secured outline consent for 996 new homes and 825,000 sq. ft of employment space from Bassetlaw Council in 2012. Since then, the first phase of land for 118 homes has been sold to Jones Homes, who will have fully built out this phase by 2017.

The site was also one of 10 sites designated as a Government Housing Zone in 2015, providing the impetus for the site to accommodate a further 750 homes to replace the former employment consent on the site.

Simpson Park is one of the largest brownfield sites in the area and will eventually include a new primary school, open spaces, sport pitches, community facilities and affordable housing. Over 150 acres of consented or allocated land is available for housebuilders to purchase in phases.

Remediation of the wider site will begin in early 2017, with further plot sales to housebuilders to follow.
